The New Year

And his eyes, most gracious and tender, were bent on mine.
In his hands he caught my hands, while clarion clear
His golden, rapturous, confident tones rang forth:
Comrade, hail! for I am the New, New Year.

Clinton Dangerfield.

January

"What if the winds be wintry, if the heart be strong?"

January

FIRST

He alone who begins life anew each morning is truly living.

Staunton D. Kirkham

SECOND

Oh, if men but knew in what a small house joy can live, and how little it costs to furnish it!

Emil Souvestre

THIRD

The remedy for all blunders, the cure of blindness, the cure of crime, is love. Emerson

FOURTH

Who rises from prayer a better man, his prayer is answered.

George Meredith

FIFTH

From ignorance men go astray.

Dr. Paul Dubois

SIXTH

I want you to look at every lovely thing in the world and remember it, and forget the rest. Burne-Jones

January

SEVENTH

Give us the wages of going on.

Tennyson

EIGHTH

So remember to keep well; and remember anything rather than not to keep well; and again I say, anything rather than not to keep well.

R. L. Stevenson

NINTH

Do you seek the great opportunity? You can find it precisely where you are now.

Dr. Elwood Worcester

TENTH

Give me to pluck, what time the day is spent,
The leaves of that rare rose that is content;
To press to lips when stars burn bright above,
The petals of that lily that is love.

Clinton Scollard

January

ELEVENTH

Man is rich in proportion to the number of things he can afford to let alone. Thoreau

TWELFTH

Properly speaking all true work is religion. Carlyle

THIRTEENTH

The only purpose of knowing is to teach; the only purpose of having is to give; the only purpose of being strong is to lift some part of the weight of the world.

Thomas R. Slicer

FOURTEENTH

Oh, make us happy and you make us glad. Browning

FIFTEENTH

Come in, chillen, 'fo' de darkness fall,
I don't want to be missin' airy child at all—
Come in, chillen, de good and—all.

Martha Young

January

SIXTEENTH

The best prize that life offers is the chance to work hard at work worth doing. Theodore Roosevelt

SEVENTEENTH

Today, whatever may annoy,
The word for me is joy, just simple joy. John Kendrick Bangs

EIGHTEENTH

The worth of a man depends on his will, not on his knowledge. Kant

NINETEENTH

Take life as though you were born to the task of performing a merry part in it — as though the world waited for your coming. Spurgeon

TWENTIETH

Religion is just being friends with God the Father above and the brother by our side. Washington Gladden

January

TWENTY-FIRST

"If you know anything good and helpful, tell it."

TWENTY-SECOND

Nothing distresses us when we have ceased to fear it. Seneca

TWENTY-THIRD

They might not need me, yet they might,
I'll let my heart lie just in sight.
A smile so small as mine, might be Precisely their necessity.
Emily Dickinson

TWENTY-FOURTH

It is the senseless craving for "furniture and effects" that keeps us all slaves. Horatio Dresser

TWENTY-FIFTH

Believe yourself well. It prevents many disorders. Dr. Paul Dubois

January

TWENTY-SIXTH

The durable satisfactions of life are to be found in the study of natural history and in the domestic affections. Charles Darwin

TWENTY-SEVENTH

"Give, if thou canst, in alms; if not, afford Instead of that, a sweet and gentle word."

TWENTY-EIGHTH

Love is not getting, but giving.
Henry Van Dyke

TWENTY-NINTH

Nothing can take from me the blessing of having tried.
"John, the Unafraid"

THIRTIETH

Who is rich? He who is satisfied with his share. Who is strong? He who governs himself. The Talmud

THIRTY-FIRST

"Where is there a man who is not self-made if made at all?"

February

The golden meadows sleep in snow,
But underneath the grasses grow,
And daisies dream of bud and blow.

Ellen Hutchinson

February

FIRST

Every day should have some part
Free for a Sabbath of the heart.

Wordsworth

SECOND

It is a low benefit to give me something; it is a high benefit to enable me to do somewhat of myself.

Emerson

THIRD

Simply do the best you know, then trust.

Horatio Dresser

FOURTH

Always remember this all your life . . . A man is never defeated until the very last shot is fired. And remember this too: that even if he is defeated he is never beaten, provided he has done the very best he could and has never lost heart.

Stewart Edward White

FIFTH

Truth is the strong thing,
Let man's life be true.

Browning

February

SIXTH

"The man who does not enjoy his job never does it well. If he does, he makes others happy."

SEVENTH

He who loveth best serveth best, and will readiest overlook wrongs done himself. Wilfred T. Grenfell

EIGHTH

Enthusiasm is the fundamental quality of strong souls. Carlyle

NINTH

True religion is a life, not a belief. Henry Pritchett

TENTH

What we get we must earn, if it is to be truly ours. David Starr Jordan

ELEVENTH

One thing is more necessary even than to teach children to write and read: it is to teach them the gladness of life, the joy of battle, the triumph of supreme effort even though it lead to what the world terms failure.

Helen Woljeska

February

TWELFTH

All places that the eye of heaven visits are to a wise man ports and happy havens. Shakespeare

THIRTEENTH

Manners are but morals wearing their best hats and gowns.

Anna A. Rogers

FOURTEENTH

Religion in the shape of mind-cure gives to some of us serenity, moral poise, and happiness, and prevents certain forms of disease as well as science does, or even better in a certain class of persons. William James

FIFTEENTH

What a man is declares itself through what he does.

Phillips Brooks

SIXTEENTH

We are predominantly good, predominantly healthy, even the worst of us; and it is right that we should have that in mind.

Dr. Luther H. Gulick

February

SEVENTEENTH

Are you in earnest? Seize this very minute.
What you can do, or dream you can, begin it. Goethe

EIGHTEENTH

Now there is no preservative and antiseptic, nothing that keeps one's heart young like love, like sympathy, like giving oneself with enthusiasm to some worthy thing or cause.

John Burroughs

NINETEENTH

Lift where you stand.

Edward Everett Hale

TWENTIETH

Money is not required to buy one necessity for the soul. Thoreau

TWENTY-FIRST

"She did not show me how to succeed, but she gave me courage to meet failure with a light heart."

February

TWENTY-SECOND

There are not many men in this world, after all, that it will not pay us to go to school to—for something or other. David Grayson

TWENTY-THIRD

I shall count nothing a failure but a failure to do right.
Charles E. Hughes

TWENTY-FOURTH

The best civilization cannot live without flowers any more than it can live without pictures. L. H. Bailey

TWENTY-FIFTH

Heaven is a place with many doors, and each may enter in his own way. Hindu Proverb

TWENTY-SIXTH

In years foregone, O Soul, was all not well?
Still lovelier life awaits thee. Fear not thou. T. B. Aldrich

February

TWENTY-SEVENTH

Can't none of us help what traits we start out with, but we can help what we end up with.

Alice Hegan Rice

TWENTY-EIGHTH

Beloved Pan, and all ye Gods who here abide, make us more beautiful within.

Socrates

TWENTY-NINTH

She had the essential attributes of a lady—high veracity, delicate honor in her dealings, deference to others, and refined personal habits.

George Eliot

SPRING

All seasons point forward: spring, into this life; autumn, into the life to come.

March

How the March sun feels like May!

. . . . . .

And sunshine comes like an old smile,
And the fresh waters, and awakened birds,
And budding woods await us.

Browning

March

FIRST

To-morrow is not, yesterday is not,
To-day alone is—and to-day is thine.
Ina Coolbirth

SECOND

The first wealth is health.
Emerson

THIRD

Optimism is the faith that leads to achievement.
Helen Keller

FOURTH

Arbitration is good, but there are times when it becomes necessary to knock a man down and arbitrate sitting on him.
Jacob A. Riis

FIFTH

There is no solution of trouble while we dwell upon it.
Horatio Dresser

SIXTH

Goodness is the cause of beauty in everything.
Plato

March

SEVENTH

For curious eyes and a reverent heart this world is a wonderful place for a man to be born into.

Burne-Jones

EIGHTH

For when we gladly eat our daily bread, we bless
The hand that feeds us;
And when we walk along life's way in cheerfulness
Our very heart-beats praise the love that leads us.

Henry Van Dyke

NINTH

For man is man and master of his fate.

Tennyson

TENTH

Misfortune nobly borne is good fortune.

Marcus Aurelius

ELEVENTH

There is nothing supremely beautiful but genuine simplicity.

Bradford Torrey

March

TWELFTH

A merry countenance maketh a cheerful heart. William James

THIRTEENTH

For all right judgment of any man or thing it is useful, nay essential, to see his good qualities before pronouncing on his bad. Carlyle

FOURTEENTH

Economy is not parsimony, but efficient expenditure. J. N. Adam

FIFTEENTH

There is nothing that makes men rich and strong but that which they carry inside of them. Wealth is of the heart and not of the hand.
Milton

SIXTEENTH

A man is as good as he tries to be.
"John, the Unafraid"

March

SEVENTEENTH

Let us fold away our fears,
And put by our foolish tears,
And through all the coming years
Just be glad. James Whitcomb Riley

EIGHTEENTH

Christ taught the love that serves.
Charles Kornach

NINETEENTH

Men need fitting for work; they need also fitting for leisure.
Canon Barrett

TWENTIETH

And who gives thanks? He who with helping touch
Raises the thirsty plant; who pities much
The tired beast; to poor gives alms of love,
Has writ his thanks, in words of fire, above. Edith A. Talbot

TWENTY-FIRST

It is wicked to worry.
Annie Payson Call

March

TWENTY-SECOND

The misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never happen.

Lowell

TWENTY-THIRD

Morals may subsist with wealth. It is only luxury which vitiates.

Carroll D. Wright

TWENTY-FOURTH

Do good work whether you live or die; it is the entrance to all kingdoms.

Ruskin

TWENTY-FIFTH

Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us dare do our duty as we understand it.

Lincoln

TWENTY-SIXTH

"Two men looked out from prison bars;
One saw mud, the other stars."

March

TWENTY-SEVENTH

It is God's law that those things which are to live must grow.

Robert Marion La Follette

TWENTY-EIGHTH

If you have got a good thing, hand it on, share it as far as you can; your own share will not be denied you.

W. S. Rainsford

TWENTY-NINTH

Was some one asking to see the soul? See your own shape and countenance.

Walt Whitman

THIRTIETH

Man should not postpone his life until after his own funeral, but should begin his eternity now.

W. W. Thoburn

THIRTY-FIRST

If you do one thing better than any one else, if it be only the making of a mouse-trap, the world will be sure to tread a path to your door.

Emerson

April

All the host of young things
Feel a stirring as of wings,
And are wakened from their dreams,
By the warm and sunny gleam
Of April sunshine in the air;—
Springtime's splendor everywhere.

Benjamin Leggett

April

FIRST

Loss of interest, not years, is old age. David Grayson

SECOND

Every day is a fresh beginning,
Listen, my soul, to the glad refrain,
And spite of sorrow and older sinning,
And problems forecasted and possible pain,
Take heart with the day and begin again. Susan Coolidge

THIRD

I judge of a man by his hope.
Emerson

FOURTH

"Face the cause of your worry fairly and squarely. Decide what you can do about it, do, it, and then forget it."

FIFTH

He alone who puts heart into it will do anything worth while.
Staunton D. Kirkham

SIXTH

It is not the absence of good but the invidious and blighting contrast of conditions which constitutes real poverty. I. N. Phillips

SEVENTH

Strive to keep a free, open sense, cleared from the mists of prejudice, above all from the paralysis of cant. Carlyle

EIGHTH

If we had but faith—wherein we fail—whate'er we yearn for would be granted us. Browning

NINTH

Day of judgment? It is a synonym for the present moment—it is eternally going on. Burne-Jones

TENTH

"Persevere wisely: success comes at last."

April

ELEVENTH

If we could always realize our ideals when we wished, we should lose the full benefit of failure.

Horatio Dresser

TWELFTH

As for health, consider yourselves well.

Thoreau

THIRTEENTH

That which is first worth knowing is that which is nearest at hand.

L. H. Bailey

FOURTEENTH

This man is an optimist. It means that he has struggled. That man is a pessimist. It means that he has shirked.

John Joy Chapman

FIFTEENTH

The world is too much with us; late and soon,
Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers.

Wordsworth

April

SIXTEENTH

Excess of luxury leaves no room for comfort. Marcus Aurelius

SEVENTEENTH

The best way to secure future happiness is to be as happy as is rightfully possible to-day.
Charles Eliot

EIGHTEENTH

We live beside each other day by day
And speak of myriad things, but seldom say
The full sweet word that lies just in our reach Beneath the commonplace of common speech. Nora Perry

NINETEENTH

Who grasps the moment as it flies, he is the real man. Goethe

TWENTIETH

Gentleness and cheerfulness, these come before all morality! They are the perfect duties. R. L. Stevenson

April

TWENTY-FIRST

The forces that tend for evil are great and terrible, but the forces of truth and love and courage and generosity and sympathy are also stronger than ever before.

Theodore Roosevelt

TWENTY-SECOND

Peace if possible, justice at any rate. Wendell Phillips

TWENTY-THIRD

If you git knocked out of one place, you want to git yourself another right quick, before your spirits have a chance to fall. Mrs. Wiggs

TWENTY-FOURTH

To be informed is not the same as to be wise. John C. Dana

TWENTY-FIFTH

"Not in the clamor of the crowded street,
Not in the shouts and plaudits of the throng,
But in ourselves are triumph and defeat."

April

TWENTY-SIXTH

We are sad because we cry, we are afraid because we run away.

William James

TWENTY-SEVENTH

Religion is the heart impulse that turns toward the best and highest action.

David Starr Jordan

TWENTY-EIGHTH

Comradeship is one of the finest facts and one of the strongest forces in life.

Hugh Black

TWENTY-NINTH

Not the size of the task, but the spirit shown in the task is the measure of the man.

H. C. King

THIRTIETH

Every one is, in the scriptural sense, the neighbor of all with whom he comes in contact.

Richard C. Cabot

May

Spring 's coming and Summer 's coming.

. . . . . .

A Summer of blossoming and May.

Browning

May

FIRST

We are put into this world to make it better, and we must be about our business. General Armstrong

SECOND

There is in this world infinitely more joy than pain to be shared, if you will take your share when it is offered. Ruskin

THIRD

Greed is cruelty. S. A. Barnett

FOURTH

The one fundamental fact is, that what ought to be done can be done.
Washington Gladden

FIFTH

Hope evermore and believe, O man, for e'en as thy thought,
So are the things that thou seest;
e'en as thy hope and belief.
Arthur Hugh Clough

May

SIXTH

Just the art of being kind is all this sad world needs.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox

SEVENTH

No man has a right to all of his rights. Phillips Brooks

EIGHTH

But look you, here 's the Grace of God,
There 's neither price nor fee,
Duty nor toil, that can control
The power to love and see.

Bliss Carman

NINTH

"Don't be discouraged. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."

TENTH

We all have need of sympathy, by which men live. Bradley Gilman

ELEVENTH

Serve yourself by serving others.

Richard Whiting

May

TWELFTH

"Whoever is capable of joy may learn to maintain it. . . . Wonderful are the results of training in enjoyment."

THIRTEENTH

Blessed is the man who has found his work, let him ask no other blessedness. Carlyle

FOURTEENTH

If a man is to be happy, he must be happy now; if he is to be happy, he must be happy here; if he is to be happy, he must be happy in himself and not in his conditions.

Lyman Abbott

FIFTEENTH

"It does n't make a small man any bigger to lift him up."

SIXTEENTH

Each age must worship its own thought of God. Lowell

May

SEVENTEENTH

We learn by doing.

Edward Atkinson

EIGHTEENTH

I know but one elevation of a human being and that is elevation of soul.

Channing

NINETEENTH

"God gave us some this year; he will give us some next year, and he did not give it for ourselves alone."

TWENTIETH

Ye have read, ye have heard, ye have thought. . . . Give answer—what ha' ye done?

Tomlinson

TWENTY-FIRST

Help people to help themselves.

Richard T. Ely

May

TWENTY-SECOND

I know that there is nothing better for them than to rejoice, and to do good so long as they live. And also that every man should eat and drink, and enjoy good in all his labor.

King Solomon

TWENTY-THIRD

God has given us our relations. Thank God, we can choose our friends.

Emerson

TWENTY-FOURTH

It is with the heart only that one captures a heart.

R. L. Stevenson

TWENTY-FIFTH

"Not getting the better of another person, but getting the better of ourselves, is success."

TWENTY-SIXTH

Let our affection flow out to our fellows; it would operate in a day the greatest of all revolutions.

Emerson

May

TWENTY-SEVENTH

How much we could accomplish and how strong we should be if we did not fret. Charles Kornach

TWENTY-EIGHTH

Circumstances, however difficult, are always without exception opportunities, and not limitations.

Annie Payson Call

TWENTY-NINTH

The mistake of the poor is supposing that money will make them happy. W. H. Mallock

THIRTIETH

No sooner the old hope drops to the ground
Than a new one, straight to the self-same mark I shape me.

Browning

THIRTY-FIRST

A mother is not a collection of fine sayings, but an eternal influence of fine arts. David Starr Jordan

SUMMER

In this refulgent Summer it has been a luxury to draw the breath of life. The grass grows, the buds burst, the meadow is spotted with fire and gold in the trail of flowers. . . . The mystery of nature was never displayed more happily. . . . What invitation from every faculty of man!

Emerson.

June

June's bridesman, poet o' the year,
Gladness on wings, the bobolink is here;
Half-hid in tip-top apple blooms he sings,
Or climbs against the breeze with quiverin' wings,
Or, given way to't in a mock despair,
Runs down a brook o' laughter thro' the air.

Lowell

June

FIRST

Though his beginning be but poor and low,
Thank God, a man can grow.

Florence Earle Coates

SECOND

Be ye true in everything.

Ruskin

THIRD

Give me a look, give me a face,
That makes simplicity a grace.

Ben Jonson

FOURTH

He possessed a kind of ugly courage that made it easy for him to speak with extraordinary plainness of other men's defects.

Bradford Torrey

FIFTH

A man has to live with himself, and he should see to it that he always has good company.

Charles E. Hughes

SIXTH

I feel and I grieve, but I do not worry. John Wesley

SEVENTH

He prayeth best who loveth best
All things both great and small;
For the dear God who loveth us
He made and loveth all.

Coleridge

EIGHTH

Wondrous is the strength of cheerfulness, altogether past calculation its power of endurance. Carlyle

NINTH

We need greater solitude, more intimate and personal reflection, and less reading. Dr. Paul Dubois

TENTH

The lure of the distant and the difficult is deceptive. The great opportunity is where you are. Do not despise your own place and hour.

John Burroughs

June

ELEVENTH

Poor and content is rich and rich enough. Shakespeare

TWELFTH

"Do not let the good things of life rob you of the best things."

THIRTEENTH

Beauty does not consist merely in the shape and coloring of the face. . . . Beauty is expression.

Jean Francois Millet

FOURTEENTH

Get thy tools ready:
God will give thee work.

Browning

FIFTEENTH

It is no use lamenting over one's mistakes in life; nothing is to be done that way, and they are not all such pure loss as they seem at the time. The wisdom that comes of them is to be had no other way.

Burne-Jones

June

SIXTEENTH

"Take hold and lift."

SEVENTEENTH

We think that there are circumstances in which we can treat human beings without love, and there are no such circumstances. Tolstoi

EIGHTEENTH

It is beautiful—the world and life itself—I am glad I have lived.

Rossetti

NINETEENTH

The practice of economy needs training as much as the practice of any other science.

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps

TWENTIETH

We believe more and more in the true essence of religion—the great command, "Bear ye one another's burdens." Carroll D. Wright

TWENTY-FIRST

In the Bible "duty" is mentioned but five times; "love" hundreds.

William George Jordan

June

TWENTY-SECOND

Henceforth I whimper no more.
Walt Whitman

TWENTY-THIRD

Can anything be so elegant as to have few wants and to serve them oneself, so as to have somewhat left to give, instead of being always prompt to grab? Emerson

TWENTY-FOURTH

"Thy neighbor is thy fellowman."

TWENTY-FIFTH

The mintage of wisdom is to know that rest is rust, and that life is love, laughter, and work. Elbert Hubbard

TWENTY-SIXTH

If we knew how to look around us we should not need to look up.
Margaret Fuller

TWENTY-SEVENTH

A wide-spreading, hopeful disposition is your only true umbrella in this vale of tears. T. B. Aldrich

June

TWENTY-EIGHTH

Aim to give rather than to get.

Katharine H. Newcomb

TWENTY-NINTH

Go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear and with a manly heart.

Jean Paul Richter

THIRTIETH

He had the good part of the things of this world, in that he could admire.

Anatole France

July

Here are flowers and songs of birds,
Beauty and fragrance, wealth of song and sound,
All Summer's glory thine from morn
till night,
And life too full of joy for words.

Celia Thaxter

July

FIRST

Each day is an open door. There is the open door of duty, the open door of service, the open door of kindness. H. C. Tolman

SECOND

Despatch is the soul of business.
The Earl of Chesterfield

THIRD

Go on your way unmoved—on and on to what you are required to do; the rest will take care of itself.
Walt Whitman

FOURTH

The world is my country and to do good is my religion.
Thomas Paine

FIFTH

It is a divine office; the divinest we have here below, that of helping.
Carlyle

SIXTH

"No man can think rightfully about things unless he knows how to do those things."

July

SEVENTH

Worry is nothing but a diluted, dribbling fear. . . . See that all the hours of the day are so full of interesting and healthful occupations that there is no chance for worry to stick its nose in.

Dr. Luther H. Gulick

EIGHTH

Through the wide world he only is alone who lives not for another.

Rogers

NINTH

It is something, to be sure, to be charitable with our money; but far greater is charity of thought.

Staunton D. Kirkham

TENTH

Have you the will? Leave God the way.

Browning

ELEVENTH

"Hands that ope but to receive Empty close—they only give Richly who can richly live."

TWELFTH

A man of fifty is responsible for his face. Stanton

THIRTEENTH

Honesty first; then courage; then brains. Theodore Roosevelt

FOURTEENTH

Teach me your word, O patient stars!
Who climb each night the ancient sky,
Leaving no space, no shade, no scars,
No trace of age, no fear to die.
Emerson

FIFTEENTH

It is the "every days" that count. You must make them tell, or the years have failed. William C. Gannett

SIXTEENTH

You, I am sure, are honest and kind; then believe that God is honest and kind also. T. Troward

July

SEVENTEENTH

The only helpless people in the world are the lazy.

General Armstrong

EIGHTEENTH

Love is the sanctifying element in life and reverent admiration is the perfect human gift. Ruskin

NINETEENTH

The hopeful quality in man is his capacity for improvement.

Dr. Paul Dubois

TWENTIETH

The best investment any of us can make in this world is each day to set about doing something, however small or big, that will cheer the pathway of some one else.

J. D. Rockefeller

TWENTY-FIRST

"People who are true themselves have rarely to complain of untruth in others."

July

TWENTY-SECOND

"Dear Lord, since Thou didst make the earth,
Thou mad'st it not for grief, but mirth;
Therefore will I be glad,
And let who will be sad."

TWENTY-THIRD

Give yourself in your philanthropy. Richard T. Ely

TWENTY-FOURTH

We do not go to heaven; heaven comes to us. Frederick D. Hedge

TWENTY-FIFTH

Meet a problem normally, simply —let it solve itself. In nine cases out of ten, if we leave it alone and live as if it were not, it will solve itself.

Annie Payson Call

TWENTY-SIXTH

The sacredness, if there is any, is all in yourself and not in the place.

Thoreau

July

TWENTY-SEVENTH

Have many tastes and one hobby.
Lecky

TWENTY-EIGHTH

Not a day passes over the earth but men and women of no note do great deeds, speak great words, or suffer noble sorrows. Charles Reade

TWENTY-NINTH

The one thing human beings want is human sympathy.
C. H. Henderson

THIRTIETH

We become like those we habitually admire. Henry Drummond

THIRTY-FIRST

Die whenever we may, I want it said of me by those who know me best, that I always plucked a thistle and planted a flower where I knew a flower would grow. Lincoln

August

The asters now put on the lavender
Of grief remembered, yet grief half-assuaged —
The tender purple in the sky astir
Upon the ground in little stars engaged.

William Shattuck

August

FIRST

Every day has the possibility of being the greatest of days.

Staunton D. Kirkham

SECOND

"One with another and for another."

THIRD

A revolution is being wrought in the conscience of mankind, and this is only the beginning.

Joseph Wingate Folk

FOURTH

It is a great part of the comfort and success of life to recognize one's limitations and be reconciled to them.

Bradford Torrey

FIFTH

I hold that Christian grace abounds
Where charity is seen.

Alice Carey

SIXTH

The great secret of success in life is for a man to be ready for his opportunity when it comes. Disraeli

August

SEVENTH

Rejoice with the stars and the birds. Count your blessings. Rehabilitate the memory of the good and the joyful; and if life seems too hard for the time being, take it on trust with the simplicity of a child.

Horatio Dresser

EIGHTH

Look to your radiations.

Felix Adler

NINTH

In this broad earth of ours,
Amid the measureless grossness and the slag,
Enclosed and safe within its central heart
Nestles the seed perfection.

Walt Whitman

TENTH

"Dear, there is always something left. One can always be brave."

August

ELEVENTH

Every soul of us had to do its fight with the untoward, and for itself discover the unseen. Ruskin

TWELFTH

Men are growing more social. It is the divine element in them which is drawing them together.

Washington Gladden

THIRTEENTH

"Progress must be growth."

FOURTEENTH

The wisest man could ask no more of fate
Than to be simple, modest, manly, true,
Safe from the many, honored by the few. Lowell

FIFTEENTH

Sorrow is vain and despondency sinful. Browning

August

SIXTEENTH

Truth never wounds; it is the way we speak it that offends.

Katharine H. Newcomb

SEVENTEENTH

A high aim is curative as well as arnica.

Emerson

EIGHTEENTH

"One asks for sun, an' one for rain,
An' sometimes bofe together;
I prays for sunshine in my heart,
An' den forgits de weather."

NINETEENTH

The key to most of the evils in our neighbors may be found in ourselves.

Margaret Collier Graham

TWENTIETH

Two infants reasoning in the womb about the nature of this life might be no unhandsome type of two men reasoning about the life that is to come.

Carlyle

August

TWENTY-FIRST

Let us look at the road by which the fault has come. Victor Hugo

TWENTY-SECOND

A merry heart doeth good like a medicine. Proverbs 17:22

TWENTY-THIRD

Thou shalt be served thyself by every sense
Of service which thou renderest.
E. B. Browning

TWENTY-FOURTH

I paint my character into my picture; I write it into my poem; I build it into my house.
Staunton D. Kirkham

TWENTY-FIFTH

All philosophy is a search for God. Plato

TWENTY-SIXTH

"Joy lies in the doing,
And the rapture of pursuing
Is the prize."

August

TWENTY-SEVENTH

Look for the beautiful and you will find it in unexpected places.

S. V. Cole

TWENTY-EIGHTH

I am unaware of anything that has a right to be called an impossibility.

Thomas B. Huxley

TWENTY-NINTH

Cultivate a tranquil habit. Let trifles go.

Bishop Fallows

THIRTIETH

There is no such thing as old age as long as you want to go on.

Ines Haynes Gilmore

THIRTY-FIRST

"I thank thee, Lord, for strength of arm
To win my bread,
And that beyond my need is meat
For friend unfed.
I thank thee much for bread to live,
I thank thee more for bread to give."

AUTUMN

Let budding spring be thine,
And autumn brown and debonaire—
Days that darken and nights that shine—
Let all the round year be thy fare.

Henry Van Dyke.

September

"No sorrow upon the landscape weighs,
No grief for the vanished summer days;
But a sense of peaceful and calm repose
Like that which age in autumn knows."

September

FIRST

Simplify, simplify. Instead of three meals a day, if it is necessary eat but one; instead of a hundred dishes, five; and reduce other things in proportion.

Thoreau

SECOND

The world is not bad. It 's good —thoroughly good. You simply have to touch it right.

Jacob A. Riis

THIRD

"God gives us all some small sweet way
To set the world rejoicing."

FOURTH

Let us know that every quality in us is calling to the same quality in others.

C. B. Patterson

FIFTH

He masters whose spirit masters.

Walt Whitman

SIXTH

"Speak gently! 't is a little thing
Dropped in the heart's deep well:
The good, the joy that it may bring Eternity shall tell."

SEVENTH

The art of living to-day is the art of rejection. N. S. Shaler

EIGHTH

The sovereign voluntary path to cheerfulness . . . is to sit up cheerfully, to look round cheerfully, and to act and speak as if cheerfulness were already here. William James

NINTH

A man's best things are nearest him,
Lie close about his feet.
R. Moncton Milnes

TENTH

This world's improvement is forever sure. Carlyle

ELEVENTH

"I wish, I will, I can—these are the trumpet notes that lead on to victory."

TWELFTH

Just one song to the world repeat:
This man loved and found life sweet.
Herbert Muller Hopkins

THIRTEENTH

My business is not to remake myself
But make the absolute best of what God made. Browning

FOURTEENTH

I have never had a policy. I have simply tried to do what seemed best as each day came. Lincoln

FIFTEENTH

Trust not to each accusing tongue,
As most weak persons do,
But still believe that story false
Which ought not to be true.
Sheridan

SIXTEENTH

I am bound to praise the simple life because I have lived it and found it good. John Burroughs

September

SEVENTEENTH

The human heart is like heaven. The more angels the more room.

Frederika Bremer

EIGHTEENTH

The difficulty with most of us is that we are ignorant and weak. . . . It is time we educated ourselves in hygiene, diet, and purity.

James H. West

NINETEENTH

The woman's cause is the man's; they rise or sink together, dwarfs or godlike, bond or free. Tennyson

TWENTIETH

"All time spent in bemoaning the past is wasted. . . . Drop the past moment and be glad you live to redeem it."

TWENTY-FIRST

It is the effort that deserves praise, not the success. Ruskin

September

TWENTY-SECOND

The very name and appearances of a happy man breathe of good nature, and help the rest of us to live.

R. L. Stevenson

TWENTY-THIRD

Politeness is real kindness kindly expressed.

J. Witherspoon

TWENTY-FOURTH

What we seek we shall find.

Emerson

TWENTY-FIFTH

"The soul
Shall have society of its own rank.
Be great, be true, and all great souls
. . . . . .
Shall flock to you and tarry by your side,
And comfort you with their high company."

TWENTY-SIXTH

All free and daring souls have before them a well-nigh limitless opportunity for endeavor of every kind.

Theodore Roosevelt

September

TWENTY-SEVENTH

"Somehow, I never feel like good things belong to me till I pass them on to somebody else."

TWENTY-EIGHTH

The measure of any life is its love.
A. M. C. Dupee

TWENTY-NINTH

Honest toil is holy service,
Faithful work is praise and prayer.
Henry Van Dyke

THIRTIETH

"When you are lonely seek some other lonely one to cheer."

October

As fruits and leaves and the day itself acquire a bright tint just before they fall, so the year nears its setting. October is its sunset sky, November the later twilight.

Thoreau

October

FIRST

It is the glory of life that it is new every day; new in its hopes, its endeavors, its toils. H. C. Tolman

SECOND

The object of education is not to teach how to gain a living, but to teach us how to live. J. T. Munger

THIRD

Books are good enough in their way, but they are a mighty bloodless substitute for life.

R. L. Stevenson

FOURTH

We ask advice but we mean approbation. Colton

FIFTH

Everything is possible, if you will only be energetic and independent and seize opportunity by the scruff of the neck.

"Elizabeth and Her German Garden"

SIXTH

"Take life as you find it but don't leave it so."

October

SEVENTH

The music that suits me best—
When I'm tired, gives me rest—
Is to have a little child
Gurgle out in laughter wild
And just laugh and laugh its best.
Mrs. Stanley

EIGHTH

What we truly need will come to us. C. B. Patterson

NINTH

This life is a training and a passage. Browning

TENTH

If the day and night are such that you greet them with joy, and life emits a fragrance like flowers and sweet-scented herbs—is more elastic, starry, and immortal—that is your success. Thoreau

ELEVENTH

Appeal to the divine in any individual and he will always respond.
Katharine H. Newcomb

TWELFTH

They who are of like mind are our kindred. Staunton D. Kirkham

THIRTEENTH

Do something for somebody. Not only mingle with people, but lend a hand whenever you can. S. V. Cole

FOURTEENTH

"The joy of life lies not in attainment, but in attaining."

FIFTEENTH

Your success and happiness lie in you. External conditions are the accidents of life, its outer trappings. Bishop Fallows

SIXTEENTH

Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices. Emerson

SEVENTEENTH

"God is never so far off
As even to be near;
He is within; our spirit is
The home He holds most dear."

October

EIGHTEENTH

Even in the life that is most ordinary, the part that is done for God is enormous. The lowest of men would rather be just than unjust.

Renan

NINETEENTH

It 's the things which bore you that kill you, not the fatiguing ones.

W. M. Hunt

TWENTIETH

"The man who finds the world full of mean people is himself a mean soul."

TWENTY-FIRST

A loving heart is the beginning of all knowledge. Carlyle

TWENTY-SECOND

It is a very old and a very true saying that failure is the only high-road to success. R. L. Stevenson

October

TWENTY-THIRD

Be sure that whenever you make an unselfish effort to comfort another, you will get a glimpse of the face of the Master. "John, the Unafraid"

TWENTY-FOURTH

He who is plenteously provided for from within needs but little from without. Goethe

TWENTY-FIFTH

"Our Father, thou art giving us blessings all the time; help us to be a blessing."

TWENTY-SIXTH

Nay, she aimed not at glory; no loser of glory she;
Give her the glory of going on, and still to be. Tennyson

TWENTY-SEVENTH

To feel brave, act as though we were brave, use all our will to that end, and a courage fit will very likely replace the fit of fear.

William James

October

TWENTY-EIGHTH

"Do your best, then take whatever comes without flinching. Every experience can be turned to good account."

TWENTY-NINTH

"Love"
Is a short word that says so much.
Browning

THIRTIETH

Cast your bread upon the waters and after many days it shall return to you buttered. Mrs. A. B. Alcott

THIRTY-FIRST

I have no creed but love; is there a hell
Where some poor tortured thing cries out in pain?
Then let me take his hand and wish him well
And wait until he finds his heaven again. Rossiter Wye

November

"Hurrah for November! we all will say,
For he brings the happy Thanksgiving Day.
Now we give thanks to the Father above
For the harvest blessings that come from His love."

November

FIRST

What each day needs, that shalt thou ask.
Each day will set its proper task.

Goethe

SECOND

No profit grows where no pleasure is ta'en. Shakespeare

THIRD

An arm of aid to the weak;
A friendly hand to the friendless;
Kind words so short to speak,
But whose echo is endless:
The world is wide, these things are small.
They may be nothing,—but they are all. Richard Moncton Milnes

FOURTH

Nothing ever becomes real till it is experienced—even a proverb is no proverb to you till life has illustrated it. Keats

November

FIFTH

Life is the original school—life, domestic and social. Davidson

SIXTH

The only thing that walks back from the tomb with the mourners and refuses to be buried is character.

W. M. Hunt

SEVENTH

To be feared of a thing and yet to do it, is just what makes the prettiest kind of a man. R. L. Stevenson

EIGHTH

Appreciate the goodness and the beauty in the conditions of your daily life . . . . and your heart will be so full of thanksgiving there will be no room in it for discontent, unrest, or any of the host of evil passions that lie in wait to murder human happiness. Horace Fletcher

November

NINTH

Let us be sure our enemy is not the hateful being we are apt to paint him.

Carlyle

TENTH

Let thy day be to thy night
A letter of good tidings. Let thy praise
Go up as the birds go up, that when they wake
Shake off the dew and soar.

Jean Ingelow

ELEVENTH

Nothing will supply the want of sunshine to peaches, and to make knowledge valuable you must have the cheerfulness of wisdom.

Emerson

TWELFTH

There is no sin save unkindness.

"John, the Unafraid"

THIRTEENTH

It is the heart and not the brain
That to the highest doth attain.

Longfellow

November

FOURTEENTH

It tastes af brotherliness—one of the sweetest tastes I know, and yet one that the poorest of us can be giving away every day.

Wilfred T. Grenfell

FIFTEENTH

"Be merry
When life goes along like a song;
But the man worth while is the man who will smile
When everything goes dead wrong."

SIXTEENTH

If we have attained so far as to speak no lies let us make the nobler effort to live none. Lydia Maria Child

SEVENTEENTH

All leads up higher.
All shapes out dimly the superior race,
The heir of hopes too fair to turn out false.

Browning

November

EIGHTEENTH

"Children receive gracefulness from nature, and learn awkwardness from man."

NINETEENTH

He is blessed over all mortals who loses no moment of the passing life in remembering the past. Thoreau

TWENTIETH

"The man who knows the world is the man who knows the worst of it."

TWENTY-FIRST

The art of arts, the glory of expression and the sunshine of letters, is simplicity. Walt Whitman

TWENTY-SECOND

"Kings are to serve the people,
And wealth is to serve the poor,
And learning to lift up the lowly,
And strength that the weak may endure."

November

TWENTY-THIRD

The fall of man consists of his dropping into subjection to his animal nature. Henry Wood

TWENTY-FOURTH

"Nothing can be more useful to a man than a determination not to be hurried."

TWENTY-FIFTH

That love for one, from which doth not spring
Wide love for all, is but a worthless thing. Lowell

TWENTY-SIXTH

Watch lest prosperity destroy generosity. Henry Ward Beecher

TWENTY-SEVENTH

"Out of the narrow and cramping
Into a service of loving deeds;
Out of a separate, limited plan
Into the Brotherhood of Man,
This is our resurrection!"

November

TWENTY-EIGHTH

Freedom is a conquest, not a bequest. Booker T. Washington

TWENTY-NINTH

"We and God have business with each other; and in opening ourselves to His influence our deepest destiny is fulfilled."

THIRTIETH

"He who would grow, who would feel his soul expand, should never let a day pass without trying to see some beautiful thing."

WINTER

"It is pleasant to think, just under the snow
That stretches so bleak and blank and cold,
Are beauty and warmth that we cannot know,
Green fields and leaves and blossoms of gold."

December

" 'Help one another,' the snowflakes said,
As they cuddled down in their fleecy bed.
'One of us here would quickly melt;
But I'll help you and you help me,
And then what a splendid drift we'll be.' "

December

FIRST

What a child cannot understand of Christianity no one need to.

Ruskin

SECOND

One ought to assume that one is in society, that one is society.

Lilian Whiting

THIRD

It is necessary to be more on our guard against pride than against a conflagration. Hegel

FOURTH

You may not believe in God, or heaven, or hell, or anything else. You may call yourself an atheist until you are black in the face, but if you kiss away the hurt of a little child you believe in Christ for the moment. W. T. Stead

FIFTH

Men make the hits, but not the misses. Bacon

December

SIXTH

"All is not wrong so long as wrong seems wrong."

SEVENTH

Leave thy temple and search for a heart.

Omar Khayyam

EIGHTH

An easy thing, O Power Divine,
To thank Thee for these gifts of Thine,
The Summer's sunshine, Winter's snow,
The hearts that kindle, words that glow.
But when shall I attain to this—
To thank Thee for the things I miss?

T. W. Higginson

NINTH

Good nature is a great part of morals.

Lowell

TENTH

"Fear not hard things but fear the easy things."

Deeember

ELEVENTH

Every man must do his own growing, no matter how tall his grandfather was. T. K. Beecher

TWELFTH

I never learned anything, not even standing on my head, but I found use for it. Fleming Jenkin

THIRTEENTH

Life means a chance to be helping lame dogs over the stiles, a chance to be cheering and helping to bear the burdens of others.

Wilfred T. Grenfell

FOURTEENTH

"Court the fresh air day and night. Oh, if you knew what was in the air!"

FIFTEENTH

There can be no fairer ambition than to excel in talk; to be affable, gay, ready, clear, and welcome.

R. L. Stevenson

December

SIXTEENTH

"You must walk with your eyes as well as your feet."

SEVENTEENTH

I am startled that God can make me so rich even with my own cheap stores. It needs but a few wisps of straw in the sun, some small word dropped, or that has long lain silent in a book. Thoreau

EIGHTEENTH

"It isn't the thing that you do, dear,
But the thing that you leave undone,
Which gives you the bitter heartache
At the setting of the sun,—
The tender word forgotten,
The letter you did not write,
The flowers you did not send, dear,
Are your haunting ghosts tonight."

NINETEENTH

"Simplicity and sunshine will heal most ills."

December

TWENTIETH

When we discuss spiritual topics with those who differ from us, we speak two languages. Balzac

TWENTY-FIRST

There is no age to the spirit that lives in high sentiments.

Lydia Maria Child

TWENTY-SECOND

Never have more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three kinds—all they have had, all they have now, and all they expect to have. Edward Everett Hale

TWENTY-THIRD

Our lives must climb from hope to hope
And realize our longing. Lowell

TWENTY-FOURTH

"The highest is generally among the aged, the poor, and the infirm."

December

TWENTY-FIFTH

If we're happy Christmas, why not the day before, an' the day that follows, an' soon, evermore?

Wilbur D. Nesbit

TWENTY-SIXTH

Making heaven on earth is the real business of every human being.

Lilian Whiting

TWENTY-SEVENTH

"Don't carry the whole world on your shoulders, far less the universe. Trust the eternal."

TWENTY-EIGHTH

I know that love is never wasted,
Nor truth, nor the breath of a prayer;
And the thought that goes forth as a blessing
Must live as a joy in the air.

Lucy Larcom

TWENTY-NINTH

A man preaching from his earnest soul into the earnest souls of men: is not this virtually the essence of all churches whatsoever?

Carlyle

December

THIRTIETH

Whilst we converse with what is above us, we do not grow old, but grow young. . . . . This old age ought not to grow on a human mind.

Emerson

THIRTY-FIRST

The public honesty which makes business on a credit basis possible is the kingdom of God. The public school is the kingdom of God. International law and international peace based on international law is the kingdom of God. The distribution of wealth is the kingdom of God. The kingdom of God is here.
